One evening—it was the latter part of the eighteenth century—a carriage stopped at the door of an inn midway between Versailles and Paris. A gentleman whose dress and manner denoted that he was of some importance alighted, entered the inn, where the landlord stood obsequiously rubbing
his hands, and ordered a supper.
While it was being prepared the landlord was hopping about, now running into the kitchen to hurry up the cook and now returning to the gentleman to assure him that he would not have long to wait.

Meanwhile the gentleman went out on to the piazza for the purpose of stretching his legs during his halt.
He found there something that interested him—a boy about sixteen years old, pale and emaciated, sitting in an invalid chair. The gentleman approached him and began to question him.

"You do not seem well. What is your trouble?"

"My right leg is drawn up, and I cannot straighten it. My back, too, is getting crooked."

"How long since this trouble came upon you?"

"Since a year ago when the young Marquis of Treville kicked me."

The gentleman's brow lowered. At that moment supper was announced,
and he went into the dining room.
"Who is the boy outside with hip disease and spine curvature?" he asked
of the landlord, who waited on him.
"He is my son, seigneur."

"He has a fine head and an intellectual face. It is a pity that he should suffer thus. He would if relieved make a good man."

"It was that little villain Treville."
I will see if I cannot straighten his leg and prevent the further curvature
of his spine. I am the king's surgeon."

"If you will do that, M. le Docteur,
we will all bless you, but I fear I have not so much money as you will expect."

"There will be no money to pay. I am going direct to Paris, and if you like I will take your boy with me in my carriage. He will travel more comfortably and be less liable to injury than if he is carried in one of your country wagons."

When the doctor was driving away, beside him, made comfortable with pillows and rugs, sat Jean Demourier.
That night he was placed in a hospital, and the next morning Dr. Du Faur began a course of treatment.

During the next dozen or fifteen years the American colonists had thrown off the kindly yoke and become an independent people with a government of their own. The French, who for centuries had been held by their kings and their nobles, ground down to the very earth, encouraged by the Americans' example, had begun to turn upon their oppressors. One day a mob marched by the inn where Dr. Du Faur had stopped for supper, going to Versailles to bring the king to Paris.
Jean Demourier had forgiven the young noble who had kicked him, but he had not forgotten that so great was the power of the aristocrats that he had not dared resent his treatment.
He had thrown himself into the cause of the revolution, and when the people marched by his farm he joined them. Then when they came back with the king in his carriage Jean continued on with them to Paris,
where he became one of the minor leaders.

Then began that reign of terror based on a determination on the part of a people who had suffered oppression
for centuries to wipe their oppressors from the face of the earth. In the Place de la Revolution they sat up a machine for carrying out their work.
The prisons were filled with aristocrats, consisting of nobles and their sympathizers, and whenever the doors opened out poured a crowd who were to be eliminated by the guillotine from the problem of French politics.

Dr. Du Faur was not noble, but his wife was or had been, for he was a widower, and his daughter had married the young Count Destelles at the breaking out of the revolution. The doctor, having been the royal surgeon, was deemed of more importance than the other two and was arrested among the first. The arrest of his daughter and his son-in-law soon followed.

One morning the doctor was brought up before the citizen judge of his ar-rondissement for what was called a trial. The doctor saw a man apparently not yet thirty sitting behind
a high table who was to be his judge.
The man looked at the doctor, and it was evident that some connection was going on within the former's brain.

And well there might. The judge whose duty it was to find the prisoner guilty and send him to the guillotine
was none other than Jean Demourier,
whom the doctor had found a cripple
and made a strong man. Demourier was a trifle bent and walked with a slight limp, but he was a very different man from what he would have been had it not been for the efforts of the surgeon. The judge gave one look at the man who had been sent to him

that he might sign his death warrant, then, lowering his eyes to a sheet of paper before him, began to question him and take down his answers. For his own life he dare not favor his benefactor.

"Your name?" he asked.

"Alphonse Du Faur."

"Occupation?"

"Surgeon."

"I believe it is you who have kept the tyrant Louis Capet and his family from the grave where they should have laid long ago."

"I was the king's physician."

Those standing about scowled and expected that the next words would be "Take him to the guillotine!"

"And do you think," continued the judge, "that you who have kept alive
this oppressor of the people should die
the same death as other aristocrats?"

The doctor did not answer the question.

"Take him to the temporary prison in the Rue Veau Grand. I wish to consult the committee to learn if it is their pleasure that this man, who has been closer than any other in the confidence of the tyrant, shall die an ordinary death. He should be burned."

These words were spoken with all the bitterness the citizen judge could throw into them. Not one present suspected that his intention was to save Dr. Du Faur from the guillotine that morning and to place him where he might get access to him with a view to saving him altogether. The doctor was taken to the building mentioned, and another prisoner was brought up for condemnation.

The next morning Citizen Demourier drove up in a cart to the prison where the doctor was confined and presented an order for him signed by the committee. The doctor was placed in the cart, and Demourier, telling the officials that he needed no guard for the prisoner, being himself well armed, drove away. Pursuing his way down the street, he soon reached the river bank and the outskirts of Paris. Then he stopped and said to his prisoner:

"You do not know me, M. le Doc-teur?"

"You are the citizen judge?"

"More than that. I am Jean Demourier."

"And who is Jean Demourier?"

"Have you done so many kindnesses
as to forget those you have benefited?
Do you not remember stopping for supper on your way from Versailles at an inn one evening fifteen years ago?
There you found a boy who had been crippled by a noble. You took him to Paris and made quite a respectable

He got down from the cart and walked back and forth.

"And you are that boy?" exclaimed
the doctor.

"I am."

"What are you going to do with me?"

"Take you in my carriage—this cart
—to the inn from which you took me to Paris in your carriage and not only save your back and your leg, but especially your neck. I shall hide you there as long as necessary and then run you over the border."

"You are very kind, but I do not care to leave my daughter and my son-in-law here to die."

"Where are they?"

"In the Conciergerie, I believe."

"Very well; I shall see what I can do for them. I am thoroughly trusted, being known as the man who was crippled by a noble. I will take you to my home, return and possibly may bring those you love with me."

"But will I not be missed and you
be charged with so many crimes?"

"I think not. There have so many heads to chop off that the moment a prisoner disappears he is saved. If I am asked about you I will tell them
you have been tortured and executed in private. Now lie down in the cart and I will drive on."

Jean, before reaching his home, where his load was likely to be seen by his neighbors, stopped beside a field where there was grain in sheaf and put enough over his burden to conceal him.
Then drove on and turned in at his farm by a lane leading to the barn.

The doctor remained concealed in the loft of Demourier's barn for a week, endeavoring to find the Count and Countess Destelles. They had become separated, and Demourier spent considerable time discovering where they were. Then after much difficulty he succeeded in getting possession of them. This he accomplished by bribing their jailer, and on pretense of removing them to another prison he took them to his barn, but this time the journey was accomplished at the dead of night. The meeting between the doctor and his daughter and her husband at midnight in the loft of a barn
though they could not distinguish one another by their voices, was indescribably happy.

The next morning Jean Demourier
put the three refugees in a deep farm wagon. In the bottom of which he had bored breathing holes, and covered them to the depth of several feet with grain. Then, opening his barn, he drove out and into the road, soon after turning into another leading northward. On that road he lodged with his load till evening, when he relieved the refugees from their uncomfortable position, and they slept in a wood. They were not taken any other conveyance, fearing to be recognized, so the next day they kept to their cart, traveling as grain, and at last crossed the border. There they knelt and, locked in one another's arms, gave thanks to heaven.

Jean returned to Paris. He was eventually guillotined, but, strangely enough, not for assisting in the escape of the doctor and his family. His fall was on account of one of those changes wherein one faction came up to dominate another.

The Making of Lenses.

The essential part of any device for the study of the starry millions—the suns, planets, comets and the nebulae that are perhaps new worlds in the making—is the lens or the optical train that consists of a series of lenses. It is this that makes the modern science of astronomy possible. There is absolutely no other human occupation that requires the accuracy of observation and the delicacy of touch that are requisite for the making of the finest lenses. These are the most perfect products of human hands. It may convey some idea of the labor required in the making of a large lens, to say that at least one year's time is required for the grinding and polishing of a thirty inch object glass. A little lens two inches in diameter requires the unremitting care and attention of a skilled workman for two or three days. It is easy, then, to see why it is that even lenses of high class photographic work are costly. A forty inch object glass for a large telescope can not be made in much less than four years' time and if everything does not go just right it may require much longer than that. Kansas City Star

Persian Jest.

An exceedingly ugly man, says the Persian Joe Miller, was once in the mosque, asking pardon of Allah for his sins and praying to be delivered from the fires of hell. One who overheard his prayers said to him: "Wherefore, O friend, wouldst thou cheat thyself of such a continuance? Art thou reluctant to burn up a face like that?"

Another story the Persian jester tells is that a certain person with a hideous nose was once on a time wooing a woman. Describing himself to her and trying to make an attractive picture
he said, "I am a man devoid of night-ness and frivolity, and I am patient in bearing afflictions!"

"Aye," said the woman, "Wert thou not patient in bearing afflictions thou hast never endured thy nose these forty years!"

All of which is more witty than kind

Bohemians and Wedding Rings.

"There are two wedding rings that I have just made over," said the jeweler. "They are for Bohemian women.
They lost their own rings, so they had their husbands' rings cut down to fit
That is a custom in their country.
Both husband and wife wear wedding rings there. If the man loses his ring he has to buy a new one, but if the woman loses hers she wears her husband's. I do a good deal of that kind of work. Other women who lose wedding rings just buy another one and say nothing about it, but these women are too conscientious for that.
Usually I have to make the man's ring smaller, but once in awhile it has to be spliced to make it fit. The women are always considerably chagrined
over the splicing and offer all kinds of explanations to account for their big fingers."—New York Sun.

The Roulette Ball.

That capricious little ball that decides our fortunes at the ever fascinating game of roulette at Monte Carlo occasionally flies from the skillful croupier's hand, though not often.
One afternoon it slipped from its manipulator's fingers and found its way into an Englishman's coat pocket.
So impressed was the Englishman
that he promptly lost a couple of hundred pounds. But the little ball once found a far stranger destination than that. Escaping from the croupier's hand, it flew straight into the mouth of a German smoker, and he was so impressed that he promptly swallowed it.—London Bystander.

Tea in Paraguay.

When the natives of Paraguay drink
tea they do not pour it from a teapot
into a cup, but fill a gourd made out of a pumpkin or gourd and then suck
up the hot liquid through a long reed.
Moreover the tea which they use is altogether different from that which comes from China, being made out of dried and roasted leaves of a palm-like plant which grows in Paraguay and southern Brazil. The natives say that this tea is an excellent remedy
for fever and rheumatism.

Sparrowgrass.

It is stated that a well known riddle was written by a coterminator. The riddle in question is a charade and runs as follows:

My first's a little bird as ops.
My second's neutral in ay crops.
My eye is good with mutton chops.
My end, of course, is "sparrow grass," which the learned Dr. Parr at ways insisted on using in preference to the politer "asparagus."—London Notes and Queries.

A Real Poet.

"Poetry," said the literary girl, "is the art of expressing intense feeling in figurative speech."

"In that case," replied Miss Cavendish,
"the man who writes baseball news is sure a poet."—Washington Star.

Bridgetown. Now that we are married, darling, we must have no more

She Was Numerous.

"Want a dance to marry the best girl in the world?" said the young man.
"Funny, isn't it?" commented the clerk. "That makes 1,200 dances for that girl this season."—Philadelphia

SONOMA INDEX - TRIBUNE

Sonoma, June 25, 1910.

H. H. GRANICE, Editor.

THE turn-out of Democrats at the Hiram Johnson meeting in this place Wednesday ought to have acted as an eye-opener to those misguided Republicans present who have been shouting his praises. It was apparent to any but the most stupid that the "unterrified" were there to encourage the insurgent candidate in his efforts to disrupt the Republican party, to the end that a Democrat succeed Governor Gillett. Ex-Congressman Geary of Santa Rosa remarked once upon a time that "if the Republicans of Sonoma county were not a d--n set of fools there wouldn't be a Democrat in the county Court House." If this insurgent business keeps up the remark may aptly apply to the capitol building in Sacramento after the election in November.

Additional Particulars of An Averted Drowning at Boyes Springs

The young man who came near losing his life by drowning in the big swimming tank at Boyes Springs, mention of which was made in last week's issue, was John Pigeorge of San Francisco, a cousin of Jas. D. Modini. The young man after partaking of a hearty dinner with his relatives here walked to Boyes Springs and immediately after arriving there entered the bathing tank. The dinner and the walk combined caused him to be seized with cramps upon entering the water, rendering him perfectly helpless. The promptness with which Messrs. Pancrazzi of Glen Ellen and Allison of Santa Rosa went to the helpless young man's rescue is all that saved his life.

Pigeorge left for his home in the metropolis a few hours after his exciting experience none the worse for his narrow escape.

Still Another Enterprise For Sonoma

Sonoma is growing and no mistake, as is evidenced by new enterprises and building activity. The latest improvement is the establishment on Napa street of an up-to-date garage in a building constructed especially for it. This latest adjunct to the town will be known as the "Sonoma Valley Garage," and will be under the management of Jack Gottenberg, an expert automobilist.

Attached to the garage is a machine shop especially for the repair of automobiles which will fill a long-felt want in our community in general and the autoing public in particular.

The garage, which is located next door to the Index-Tribune office, is up-to-date in every way and will compare favorably with similar establishments anywhere in the State.

Jack London Attacked by Disreputable Party

Jack London, of Glen Ellen, the noted author, was attacked on the streets of Oakland by Tom Muldowly, the owner of a tenderloin restaurant in that city. Jack defended himself the best he knew how and in the mix-up between the restaurant man and a retinue of waiters he succeeded in giving his principal adversary a black-eye and received one in return. London had his assailant arrested, as he simply defended himself against a big bully.

It appears that London entered the restaurant and asked the surly proprietor where his lavatory was located, and was told to go to hell. The mix-up followed on the sidewalk in front of the establishment.

Celebrated Her Seventy-Second Birthday.

Mrs. Nichelini celebrated her seventy-second birthday at her home near Agua Caliente last Sunday. The following were present to do honor to the old lady who has resided in this valley for many years: Mesdames Bunker, Rosetti, Olsen, Huddart, Misses A. Bunker, J. Williams, E. Bethune, Messrs. F. Nichelini, Heinz, Scapolini, Anderson, Newman, Smith and Masters A. Huddart, S. Nichelini, A. Nichelini, W. Olson and B. Rosetti.

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heart-burn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach gnaw or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, torpid liver with indigestion, or dyspepsia. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at these will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of native American medicinal forest plants. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

Queen California to be Chosen

The question as to who is the most popular Native Daughter of the Golden West is the one big thing that is agitating the Native Sons and Daughters, in particular, and the public at large, in general, of the State of California. A contest is now on for the selection of "California" the Queen of the Admission Day, 1910. Festival, to be held in San Francisco, September 8, 9 and 10. Big bundles of ballots have been sent to every parlor of Native Sons in the State and in many localities voting is going on with a vim.

The Queen must be a Native Daughter in good standing in one of the Parlor and the candidate obtaining the highest number of votes will be accorded the distinction of being the "First Lady" of the big celebration and the fourteen next following in number of votes will be chosen as members of the Royal Court and act as Maids of Honor to Queen California.

After the votes are counted the fortunate Queen and her Maids will be given a ten day's outing in the Yosemite Valley. Votes and full particulars of the contest may be obtained at the headquarters of the Admission Day Festival, 1050-1052 Phelan Building, San Francisco.

The Hay Market This Week

Somers & Co., of San Francisco in reporting the condition of the hay market for the week ending June 21st, say among other things:

"As the new crop of hay is rapidly being prepared for shipment receipts of same on this market have steadily increased, the total for the week ending today amounting to 3560 ton in comparison with 2770 ton last week and 2660 ton week preceding that. Although there have been occasional dull days yet with practically all consumers' lots empty everything has been moving off quite readily although at a low range of prices. The market cannot stand much of a rush, however, and if the present average is increased we will have much difficulty in disposing of consignments."

"Values for the new crop have not been definitely established and we presume that operators here cannot act intelligently and satisfactorily until after the fourth of July. After summer values are well established we may look for somewhat better business for we may then expect many consumers to follow their regular custom of laying away their winter supply. Many however, anticipating a good crop and moderate range of prices throughout the season, have apparently determined to buy from hand to mouth throughout the year."

"The crop, generally speaking, is of excellent quality, better than the average of last year which fact may result in increased export trade. Should this develop sufficiently we may have a much more interesting market a little later."

Falling Hair
Ayer's Hair Vigor promptly destroys the germs that cause falling hair. It nourishes the hair-bulbs, restores them to health. The hair stops falling out, grows more rapidly.

Dandruff
Ayer's Hair Vigor just as promptly destroys the germs that cause dandruff. It removes every trace of dandruff itself, and keeps the scalp clean and in a healthy condition.

Does not Color the Hair
We wish you to positively and distinctly understand that Ayer's Hair Vigor does not affect the color of the hair, even to the slightest degree. Persons with the whitest or the lightest and most delicate blond hair may use it freely without having the hair made a shade darker.

Ingredients: Sulphur, Glycerin, Quinin, Sodium Chloride, Capsicum, Sage, Alcohol, Water, Perfume.

BOLD BURGLAR LOOTS RESIDENCE

Enters Home of E. H. Johannsen in Broad Day Light and Secures Jewelry and Other Valuables

During the temporary absence of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Johannsen from their home on the Napa road on Thursday forenoon of last week the premises were entered by a daylight burglar, who ransacked every room in the house in quest of valuables.

Among the articles carried off by the thief were the following: One brown suit of clothes, three new pair of glasses, a gold watch and chain, fish eye Eastern Star gold pin, boy's watch and stick pin, dark pair eye glasses with a gold chain attached, gold signet ring, photo pin for baby, leather cigar case, bank book and numerous valuables and trinkets.

The most singular thing in connection with the robbery was that Mr. Johannsen while returning to his home passed the thief walking along the road, his attention being attracted to the man by the suit of clothes he wore, which bore a remarkable resemblance to a suit he had left hanging up in a closet at home, but he did not attach much importance to the incident at the time.

Arriving home and discovering a few hours later that the place had been entered and looted and that the clothes on the back of the man he had passed on the road was the identical missing suit he regretted that he had not taken prompt action to satisfy his curiosity in time to lead to the arrest of the man. However, when he realized his over-sight and notified Deputy Sheriff Joe Ryan of the robbery, the burglar had made good his escape.

The man, who is described as having blue eyes, brown hair, is about 25 years of age and 5 feet 7 or 8 inches in height.

When last seen he was headed toward Napa Junction.

Pioneer Woman of Sonoma Entertained in Alameda

Mrs. O. J. McKinnon of this place, was the guest of honor at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. Middlemas of Alameda, on Friday of last week, the occasion being her seventy-ninth birthday.

A large number of friends and relatives were invited to pay their respects to this very wonderful old lady who was 79 years old on that date. Mrs. McKinnon arrived in California on February 19, 1853, after a voyage of 127 days from Boston, bringing her two daughters, Mrs. Middlemas and another daughter born on the ship after passing Cape Horn, who is now a resident of Sonoma. Mrs. McKinnon received her friends seated in a chair beautifully decorated in lavender sweet peas and ferns.

Children, grand-children and one great-granddaughter, together with nieces and nephews and friends of the days that are past and also those of a latter day, all very dear to the aged lady, vied with each other in honoring her. Congratulations by telegram, telephone and letter came from friends unable to be present. Mrs. McKinnon received many gifts of flowers, books and other pretty remembrances. After a very delightful afternoon a delicious buffet luncheon was served. During the afternoon Mrs. D. C. McGarvin of Los Angeles read a sketch written by Mrs. McKinnon of her life.

Chapter of Accidents

M. Piva, employed on the Jones Ranch at McGill's station, fell from a wagon, one day last week, and broke his right arm above the wrist. An improvised ambulance conveyance brought the man to Dr. Leix's Sanitarium, where his injury was attended to.

On Friday afternoon of last week a Chinese cook employed at "The Oaks" near Agua Caliente, cut a deep gash in his left hand with a keen carving knife, laying the flesh open to the bone. Dr. Leix attended the celestial and sewed up the wounded hand, which will incapacitate John from doing the culinary stunt for a week or two.

Discharged From Custody

Al Miller of this place, who became involved in a dispute with A. McGill of Glen Ellen over a horse trade, one day last week, was discharged from custody by Judge Atchinson of Santa Rosa last Monday. Miller was arrested on a felony charge sworn out by McGill, but as he had committed no offense against the law the Judge ordered his release in the absence of witnesses against him.

THE SONOMA CITY WATER WORKS CO.

Now Engaged in Making Extensive Developments and Improvements to its Water System

The Sonoma City Water Works Company has been making extensive developments and improvements to its water system the past month. One of the improvements is the completion of two immense elevated tanks, having a capacity of 125,000 gallons each, which will be kept constantly filled with water of absolute purity. This will be under high pressure to all the patrons of the company.

The water of the Sonoma City Company has long been noted for its purity, gushing as it does from "Lachryma Montis" perennial spring, nature's own filter.

This famous spring, located on the home place of the late Gen. M. G. Vallejo, now the property of Mrs. Marie V. Cutter and Mrs. Lula V. Emparan, daughters of the General, has quenched the thirst and conserved the health of the people of Sonoma for several generations.

For absolute purity and domestic purposes it has no equal and we are pleased to make a note of the fact that its owners are improving its service right along and keeping in touch with the wants of a new and growing Sonoma.

Woman's Club Notes

Two new names were proposed for membership.

A special meeting of the Club was arranged for Friday, July 8th, to settle up after the Carnival.

The attractive Year Books for the coming season are out, and every club member is requested to provide herself with one.

In accordance with the new program for the Third Fridays, the meeting last week opened with a roll call, each lady who could do so responding with a quotation from Lowell.

In discussing Carnival plans, it was found that a few ladies had misunderstood the question of furnishing costumes. It was definitely decided by the Club at the start that in every case each participant must furnish and pay for her own costume.

The social hour was opened with a beautiful piano solo by Miss Emilie Poppe. Mrs. Chase of San Francisco then entertained the ladies with a paper on health, after which tea and cakes were served by the hostess, Mrs. F. Clewe.

No further regular meetings will be held until August.

Felice Monaco Estate

Like Banquo's ghost, the Felice Monaco estate matter will not down and now after a lapse of many months it has again bobbed up serenely to the surface again. It will be recollected that old man Monaco, who must have been a sort of "Don Juan" in his younger days, when he died here about eighteen months ago, left two widows—one in Switzerland and one in this State—to squabble over his estate, which is of uncertain value.

Pauline Monaco, the California widow, is the administratrix of the estate, and as such is combatting the old man's will, which named a favorite nephew residing in the northern part of the county as his heir. On Monday an appeal in the case from the Justice Court of Santa Rosa township was sent up to the Superior Court and placed on the docket.

Base Ball Notes

The El Verano and Sonoma ball teams will try conclusions next Sunday morning, June 26, at the race track. The game will begin at 10 o'clock sharp. Admission 25 and 10c.

The Sonoma nine defeated Cornelius' Alerts last Sunday by the score of 17 to 3.

Batteries: Sonoma—Nessi, Jansen and Poppe. Cornelius' Alerts—Cornelius, Kiser and Valente. Umpires—Castex, Al Weyl, Wagner and La Torres.

THE APPROACHING CARNIVAL OF NATIONS

The Woman's Club and Citizens Generally Making Great Preparations for the Four Days Fiesta

The Carnival of Nations to be held here under the auspices of the Sonoma Valley Woman's Club on July 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th, as the time approaches promises to be one of the most unique, attractive and biggest fiestas ever held north of San Francisco.

The eight-acre Plaza right in the heart of town will be brilliantly illuminated at night with incandescent electric lights as will also the fine new City Hall occupying the center of the big square. Clustered under and around the many beautiful shade trees are being erected twelve attractive booths representative of as many nations. These booths will be presided over by the following club women:

American Booth—Mrs. A. H. Bates.

Swiss-Italian—Mrs. A. Pinelli. French—Mrs. Geo. Breitenbach. Indian—Mrs. O. Eastland. English—Mrs. A. J. F. Bates.

Dutch—Mrs. L. S. Simmons. Japanese—Miss Minnie Cook. Gipsy—Mrs. R. J. Keogh. Plantation—Mrs. Ray Hunter. Spanish—Mrs. L. V. Emparan.

These booths for the most part will serve dainty dishes, ice cream, confectionery, iced temperance drinks, etc., both day and evening.

The four days festival will consist of parades, open-air concerts, dancing and many other amusements.

On the afternoon of the Fourth there will be horse racing under the auspices of the Sonoma Driving Club. Its track has been put in fine condition for the event and many speedy horses have been entered from various parts of the State.

The Carnival opens on Friday evening, July 1st, with many attractive features, and will conclude with a grand ball on the evening of the Fourth.

Native Sons Nominate Officers

The members of Sonoma Parlor, No. 111, N. S. G. W., met at their hall on Broadway last Monday evening and nominated the following officers to serve for the ensuing term:

Past President, J. H. Murray; President, Jas. L. Modini; First Vice-President, H. B. Shaw; Second Vice-President, Neil Trudgen; Third Vice-President, V. Jansen; Marshal, W. H. Von Hacht; Treasurer, Roy Paul; Secretary, M. E. Cummings; Inside Sentinel, Jas. Maffie; Outside Sentinel, Philip Bill, Jr.; Surgeons, Drs. Thompson, Leix and Hays.

After the business of the Parlor had been concluded the members and visiting Native Sons repaired to the banquet room of the Parlor and enjoyed a spread which had been prepared by Messrs. Marcy and Valente, the improvised and volunteer chefs of the Parlor. Speech-making and a jolly good time followed. There were between forty and fifty members present.

Birthday Party

On Thursday a merry evening was spent at the Small residence, on Napa street, the occasion being the 18th birthday of Miss Bernice Small. Quite a number of her friends and relatives were present and music, conversation and refreshments constituted the chief amusements of the evening. The party wound up with an auto ride around the valley. Miss Small received many handsome presents.

The good old summer days are with us again.

Water Notice.

The SONOMA CITY CITY WATER WORKS COMPANY announces that it is extending and improving its System, and will be prepared to furnish an ample supply of SPRING WATER of ABSOLUTE PURITY and under HIGH PRESSURE.

Sincere thanks are extended to its patrons for loyal support in the past which it promises to merit in the future by the prompt development of a complete modern system.

Agua Caliente Street Parade

The people of Sonoma were treated to a street parade participated in by guests at the Agua Caliente Springs on Wednesday afternoon. The parade consisted of automobiles, busses, wagons, a water wagon, a pony and other features. The spirit of the occasion was entered into with great gusto by the merry fun makers from the metropolis, who are making the best of their opportunities during their brief sojourn in our valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Werner were presented with a baby girl last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Levy have a good crowd at Alameda Hot Springs enjoying comforts.

Dr. Summerfield, the veterinary surgeon of Santa Rosa, was in the valley Thursday.

Miss Ramona Granice has returned from a ten-day's visit with Alameda relatives.

Wm. H. Daly was here from San Francisco last Sunday and Monday looking after property interests.

D. Modini was in town Tuesday from Petaluma. He came over by automobile, returning home late in the afternoon.

Mrs. J. H. Cutter after a pleasant visit at the old Gen. Vallejo home returned to San Francisco Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Turner of Shellville were in from their ranch this week and report the fruit crop in fine condition.

William E. Hamburg of the U. S. Custom Service, San Francisco, is registered at Boyes Springs for his summer vacation.

N. Warshauer and family of Oakland, who have spent their summer in this valley for many years, are at Boyes Springs.

Will J. Cummings and family were here from Santa Rosa last Sunday, the guests of Mrs. A. Keiser and other relatives.

John Lawler, Sr., of Petaluma, well known in this valley, left for Old Mexico last Tuesday, where he will purchase a large number of cattle.

Mr. F. Woodward Santa Rosa, manager of Kohler & Chase, was in town Thursday on business with their local agent, Eastland's Yellow Front Drug Store.

L. Nessi and P. Boccoli attended the Grand Grove of Druids, in session this week in San Jose, as delegates from Sonoma Grove, No. 75, U. A. O. D.

The stork visited the home of County Superintendent of Schools, DeWitt Montgomery and wife, in Santa Rosa last Wednesday morning and left a bouncing baby boy.

Ice Cream will be served at the residence of Mrs. Henry Bates on Broadway next Monday afternoon for the benefit of the French booth at the forthcoming Carnival of Nations.

Mr. and Mrs. Ropt. Hall, after a sojourn of a week at Paraiso Hot Springs, Monterey county, returned home Wednesday afternoon. Their visit did not come up to expectations as the weather was cold and disagreeable during their stay there and they were glad to get back to old Sonoma.

THE HIRAM JOHNSON INSURGENT MEETING

Gubernatorial Candidate of the Sore-Heads Addresses the People of Sonoma in Union Hall

The much advertised Hiram Johnson meeting took place in this city last Wednesday shortly after the noon hour.

The insurgent candidate for Governor arrived in town by automobile at 12:30. He was met by a small committee of political sympathizers, who escorted him into Union Hall, where about one hundred people assembled to do him honor.

About half of these were ladies and the other half about equally divided between Republican and Democratic voters. If anything, the latter predominated in point of numbers.

Attorney Robt. A. Poppe acted as chairman of the meeting and read a list of twelve Vice-Presidents, who were invited to seats on the platform, but only five responded.

Mr. Johnson then made his appearance from one of the wings of the stage and without going through the formalities of an introduction immediately got down to business, and made the best of his opportunities in a twenty-minute address.

His principal theme was the Southern Pacific Railroad which he accused of running the politics of the State. It was the old cry of the politician hungry for office that we have listened to off and on for the past forty years, and which has been revived this campaign by the soreheads of the Republican party as a forlorn hope to ride them into power.

The speaker was listened to with marked attention, and considering the fact that most of his audience was composed of Curry and Anderson Republicans and Theodore Bell Democrats, he had no complaint to offer on that score.

Of course the Johnson meeting here was not one of those enthusiastic ones we read so much about in the papers of the sore-heads, but for all that it was composed of an attentive and respectful audience, which if it did not enthrall a little bit at least sympathized with the speaker for the company he is keeping in this campaign, for Hiram Johnson is a scholar and a gentleman even though he be the misguided programmed candidate of a "convention" of sore-headed Republicans, who would rule or ruin the party.

After the meeting adjourned Mr. Johnson autotoed to Glen Ellen and addressed the voters of that Democratic burg.

Governor Gillett Kills the Fight Game

Governor Gillett, through Attorney General Webb, has issued orders to District Attorney Clarence Lea of this county and every other prosecuting officer in the State to stop all boxing contests within their jurisdiction, thus effectually stamping out the fight game. The only contest affected in this county is that of the Baughman-Moore boxing bout, that was scheduled to be pulled off in Sebastopol, but which will now go a-glimmering.

An Editor Honored

Chas. A. Dunbar, of the Press-Democrat of Santa Rosa, at the recent session of the Grand Grove of Druids in San Jose was elected Noble Grand Arch of the Grand Grove of Druids for the State of California.

Read Borden's new advertisement, which appears below. It will interest you.

A Family of Hunters

The first hunting license to be granted to a woman in this county was issued by Deputy County Clerk Jack Ford to Mrs. Carl Dresel of this place last Tuesday. It is Mrs. Dresel's custom to accompany her husband and sons on their deer hunts every season. She is a good shot with the rifle and a splendid horsewoman. Among those of the family whose names appear on the hunting licenses register are Carl Dresel, Mrs. Dresel, Otto Dresel, D. G. Dresel and Julius Dresel.

EX-SUPERVISOR BUTTON COMMITTED NO CRIME

Judge Seawell Decides That the Evidence Proves That Mr. Button Received no Money

The reformers of Santa Rosa and other sections of the county who have been busy for the past eighteen months trying to send their betters to jail, two of whom are now serving sentences in the penitentiary—Messrs. Richardson and Thomas—got a back set last week when the case of ex-Supervisor Button, charged with malfeasance in office, came up on habeas corpus proceedings before Judge Seawell.

The Press-Democrat in reporting the case says:

"Judge Seawell Monday granted former Supervisor I. J. Button a writ of habeas corpus, thus disposing of the case in which he was charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, growing out of an alleged irregularity in a lumber bill for lumber supplied in Ocean township by the McEwen Lumber Company, during the term when Button represented that section of the county on the Board of Supervisors."

"Judge Seawell said there was no evidence to show that Button had received any money whatever, and that the evidence presented in Justice Atkinson's court that was intended to bear on the charge was very unsatisfactory."

"In passing upon the case from the bench Judge Seawell quoted from the transcript of the evidence and pointed out that the McEwen Lumber Company had received all the money as shown by the receipts and that Button had not profited by the furnishing of the lumber."

"I. J. Button was indicted by the Grand Jury in connection with the alleged irregularity of the lumber bill in question, and this indictment was recently dismissed for lack of evidence. Another complaint was sworn out against Button, charging him with obtaining $90 under false pretenses. He applied to the Court for a writ of habeas corpus, through his attorney, the Hon. Thomas J. Geary, and as stated, the writ was granted."

"For God's Sake Do Something."

We have answered this cry in our new book "Fighting the Traffic in Young Girls" by Earnest A. Bell, U. S. District Attorney Sims and others. It tells how thousands of young girls are lured from their homes annually and sold into a life of shame. The Cincinnati Inquirer says "Of all the books of the season the War on the White Slave Trade is the most helpful; it should be read by every man, woman and child." Agents are making from $8 to $17 a day selling this book. Over 500 pages. Many pictures. Price $1.50. Best terms to agents. Outfit free. Send 15c for forwarding charges. Book sent to any address post paid upon receipt of price. Address James E. Sharkey, Sec'y., 123 Plymouth Court, Chicago.

Dying to Order.
Dying to order is one of the most sacred customs of the American Indian. Many years ago Standing Elk went to Major James McLaughlin, the author of "My Friend the Indian," and said, "Father, my wife will die today, and she wants a coffin from you."

The major asked him what the all meant was, and he replied:
"Just nothing but that she heard the ghosts calling and must go."

Somewhere had told her, it turned out, that she was sick, so she had "painted for death," and all her relatives had gathered about to bemoan her—and incidentally divide her property as soon as she was dead. There was no use in the major's arguing about it, so he had the coffin made.

In many cases those "painted for death" are actually killed by dying, but Mrs. Standing Elk was still too vigorous. Finally in despair she carried the coffin into the house on her own shoulders, and several years later the major saw it still standing on end in her house. She had been fitted into it, and it was doing duty as a cupboard.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Improving Americans.

"Nothing is fixed but the certainty of change," said Goethe, and we know that the future American will represent a change. He may be taller or shorter or thinner or fatter than the American of today, but there is nothing in the existing state of society—and we use society in its broad sense—to indicate that he will not be better in many ways. Confidence in this is based largely on the evident determination of the American of today to leave our institutions and our ideas better than he found them. Every American, native or foreign born, wants his children to have a better education than it was possible for him to secure. He wants to have his children live in a community of higher standards and ideals than he has; he wants betterment in local, state and national conditions; and the result of the want will be improvement and a demand by his children for still greater improvement.—St. Paul Pioneer-Press.

An Economical Man.

A commercial traveler told of a man who was riding on a train and pretended to become ill after eating a sandwich. The man opened his grip and took out a hot water bag. "He got a sympathetic porter," the commercial man continues, "to fill the water bag with boiling water, and then he opened up his lunch basket, took out a piece of fried steak and warmed it up on the water bag. You talk about your light housekeeping! Then after he had warmed the steak he cut it all up with a pair of scissors and fed it to himself with a pair of sugar tongs, because he would not take a chance with a fork going around a curve. But his finish was a limit. After he had eaten the steak he unscrewed the stopper of the water bag and poured himself out a cup of hot coffee. He had the grounds in the bag all the time."

In a Quandary.

The young lady sighed deeply and was almost affected to tears.
"Harold," she said, "declares that if I don't marry him he will end his life. And I am afraid he will!"
She stifled a sob, then continued:
"And Randolph declares that if I don't marry him he will go into politics and become great and famous, and then he says I shall see what I have missed. And I am afraid he will keep his word too!"
Overcome by emotion, she buried her face in her hands, not knowing whether to save a life or to spare the country another politician.—Exchange.

An Amendment.

"Are you ready to live on my income?" he asked softly.
She looked up into his face trustfully.
"Certainly, dearest," she answered.
"If—?"
"If what?"
"If you get another one for yourself."—New York Journal.

The Dreaded Doctor.

"How did you like your dinner?" inquired the epicure.
"Well," answered the dyspeptic, "it was admirable in every respect. But my doctor has put me into such an apprehensive frame of mind that whenever I really enjoy eating anything I become utterly miserable."

The Analysis.

"Did you have the soil of your back yard analyzed by the agricultural department?"
"Yes. They said it consisted largely of glass, tin and putty, with traces of builder's lime, and suggested that it might do to raise a mortgage on."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Great Achievement.

"And what do you regard as the greatest triumph of modern surgery?"
"Collecting the bills," promptly responded the great practitioner.—London Spare Moments.

Especially in the Subways.

"There ain't but one trouble with this here city air," said Uncle Rufe, sniffing the atmosphere speculatively; "it do need ventilatin'."—Holland's Magazine.

His Reason.

"Why do you always leave the house, James, when I begin to sing the old songs?" panted Mrs. Howitt.
"Fresh air," said Howitt.—Harper's Weekly.

He who has the truth in his heart need never fear the want of persuasion on his tongue.—Ruskin.

The Seventh Son.
"Tee," said the despondent man, "I was a seventh son."
"And didn't it bring you luck?" asked the superstitious one.
"Well, if being obliged to wear the castoff clothes of six other brothers is luck it did," replied the despondent man.—Philadelphia Record.

The Dear Friends.
Miss Thin—Don't you think my new dress is just exquisite? Fannie—Oh, lovely! I think that dressmaker of yours could make a clothes prop look graceful.

His Chance.
Little Boy—I want a dose of castor oil. Druggist—Do you want the kind you can't taste? Little Boy (anxious to get even)—No, sir; it's for mother.

Silence is one of the hardest arguments to refute.—Billings.

$100 REWARD $100
The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all druggists, 75 cents. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

For Sale.
